

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A shaving apparatus is provided that is selectively attachable to a handle. The cartridge includes a razor cartridge and a device for dispensing a non-solid shaving aid material. The shaving apparatus attaches to the handle in such a manner that a self-leveling mechanism contained within the handle is not operable to adjust the movement of a first element relative to a second element.